Mrs. Kaber Makes Murder Confession

WIFE NOW ADMITS GETTING MEN TO BEAT UP HUSBAND
DENIES SHE INTENDED HE SHOULD BE KILLED IN STRUGGLE.
TELL GHOST YARN
"Man With Cap", Believed Actual Slayer, Now in Custody.

Jan. 10.—Mrs. Eva Kaber, charged with first degree murder in connection with the slaying of her husband in Lakewood, O., almost two years ago, Friday confessed "getting two men to beat up her husband in order to change his harsh attitude toward her."

She denied she intended he be killed. Chief of Police Christensen of Lakewood made this statement to a representative of The Associated Press on the train that was carrying him, Mrs. Kaber and her daughter, Miss Marian, back to Cleveland.

Chief Christensen, however, denied a report that the two men had been ordered to pose as ghosts. He also stated that Mrs. Kaber had not implicated her daughter.

MAN WITH THE CAP BELIEVED MURDERER
Cleveland.—The "man with the cap," now in custody here, is the man who drove the knife 24 times into Kaber's body, according to Mrs. Kaber's confession.

A woman who, Mrs. Kaber says, pinned the murder was arrested in her home here early Friday.

Mrs. Kaber said "two foreigners did the murder," and declared that a woman, arrested in Sandusky, Wednesday, procured the actual slaying.

The "man with the cap" was arrested here Wednesday, and his companion, a cousin, who, according to Mrs. Kaber's confession, sat at Kaber's head to stifle his cries, is being sought.

MURDERED TO POSE AS GHOSTS, SAYS PAPER
New York.—Dan P. Kaber, wealthy Lakewood, O. publisher, met death after attacking two foreigners engaged by Mrs. Kaber to pose as spirits to frighten him into a better attitude toward her, according to a statement which The New York Evening World Friday says Chief of Police Christensen obtained from Mrs. Kaber here.

The newspaper quotes Chief Christensen as saying that Mrs. Kaber had consulted a woman medium for advice as to how to change her husband's attitude toward her. The publisher's adviser, the Cleveland paper said, was told to have the two men and to "try and shake a little devil into him."

Accused from the slaying, Mr. Kaber was alleged to have attacked the two men and to have been stabbed to death by them.

According to the newspaper, Chief Christensen said Mrs. Kaber had refused to pay the two foreigners when they reappeared after the funeral, asserting they had not fulfilled the role of ghosts as she had intended, and that she would not involve herself by paying for murder.

Mrs. Kaber then was said to have fled to New York to escape the charges, and she is reported to have fled to New York to escape the charges, and she is reported to have fled to New York to escape the charges.

WOMEN ARE VOTED COMPLETE EQUAL RIGHTS IN STATE

ASSEMBLY CONCURS IN BILL REMOVING ALL DISCRIMINATIONS.
DANGER IS SEEN
Assemblyman Matheson Fears Trouble in Granting Rights of Contract.

(By Associated Press.)
Madison.—Women were voted complete equal rights with men by the assembly Friday, when a senate committee on judiciary bill, removing discriminations, was concurred in, 45 to 54.

The lower house reversed itself in taking this action, which extends the duty of jury service to women, as well as all contractual rights and the right of choice of residence. The senate, to accept the assembly bill amended, will have to reverse itself in the state against granting rights of contract and of choice of residence to the newly enfranchised sex.

Danger of this grant of privilege to women was pointed out by Assemblyman A. E. Matheson, who stood out against the action of the lower house. His opposition was expressed especially to the grant of rights of contract, which he said would result in serious trouble unless women became versed in business ways.

IRISH, JAPAN AND RUSSIA WILL FIGURE IN SATURDAY PAPER

Ten thousand girls apply for places in moving picture producing companies each year and perhaps the number is even larger, as the figures are largely estimated. Most of them are young and all they need is a pretty face. If they would read the story of Mary Pickford and the long struggle she had, the hours and days of hard work, nights of toil and exhaustion in making her success, there would be fewer dreams of going on the movie stage. The third part of the story of Mary will appear in the Gazette on Saturday.

The story of Japan—not what one sees, but an analysis of the reasons why she does the attitude she does—occupies the place she does and the world thinks of her as it does—the second article on this topic in the Gazette.

Each week the Gazette offers something new. Here is a story of the Irish tragedy for Saturday. The affidavits of some of the people who have suffered from the Black and Tans of the British constabulary. How the Irish meet the situation when attacked and houses are raided by these police. In fact, the Gazette will be filled with interest for everybody this week-end.

WOMAN FINED FOR SPEEDING—FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

Distinction of being the first woman speeder on record in the history of municipal court here went to Miss Esther Jackson, Beloit, arrested on the Janesville-Beloit concrete highway at 8:45 Thursday evening. Arraigned before Judge H. L. Maxwell, Friday morning, she pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs, $12.50, the minimum.

She was quite surprised Thursday night when Deputy Sheriff Roy Worthington, county speed regulator, pulled up alongside her car near the Kellogg farm as she was driving back to Beloit.

"I didn't think I was going fast," she said.

Worthington had informed her she had been hitting a 40-mile ell.

According to Worthington she was making a dizzy pace with her father and mother and two friends as passengers in the car. She had just sped by three cars going in the same direction and the way she allowed the wheels to run off the concrete made the deputy sheriff fear she would smash up the car and kill three or four of the occupants.

Miss Jackson paid her fine and went out of the court room with the assurance that she is going to be more careful about her driving in the future.

TRIAL OF HUTTON ON IN MILWAUKEE

Anti-Saloon League Leader Charged With Corrupt Practices Violation.

(By Associated Press.)
Milwaukee.—The trial of R. P. Hutton, secretary of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league, on a charge of violation of the corrupt practices act in the last judicial election by the Wisconsin court, started Friday before Judge George E. Page in district court.

Judge Bancroft, who charged Mr. Hutton with circulating false reports about him in the campaign for reelection, which he lost, was the first witness.

The circulars and letters, which were sent to voters in the fifth judicial circuit, according to the complaint, charged Judge Bancroft with being a "vituperative and vindictive opponent of woman suffrage, and prohibition." Judge Bancroft denied all of the allegations contained therein.

Judge Bancroft denied he had made the statements which were set forth in the circulars. He said he had been a number of old hands, but I didn't think much about it," to a Mrs. Maurice Carroll, on a train out of Richmond Center, in discussing a request by the woman suffrage committee for a letter of support that he was writing a suffrage measure before the legislature.

He testified he said: "There are a number of old hands in Richmond Center who are not for woman suffrage, no matter what you do for them."

"I probably owe the ladies an apology for using the words 'old hands,'" he said.

"He said he always voted for woman suffrage."

Morgan Upholds Blaine Bill in Part

Madison.—Constitutionality of the governor's new prohibition enforcement bill in permitting the manufacture of home brew is upheld in an opinion of Attorney General William J. Morgan, given to Assemblyman A. E. Matheson Friday.

A provision of the new law, calling for enforcement of the state statutes of future federal law, is held by the attorney general to be, in all likelihood, unconstitutional. This proposal in the governor's measure is in accordance to the opinion would delegate a power to congress, which the legislature has no authority to grant.

Harry Wong, a Chinaman, has started suit in municipal court to recover $100 from Peter Petrakos, a Greek, formerly proprietor of the States restaurant, 14 East Milwaukee street. Charles A. Enslow is attorney for Wong.

Wong complains that on March 3, 1927, he entered into an agreement with Petrakos to buy the States restaurant for $7,500, his plan having been to open a Chinese-American cafe. He is charged that Wong put up $100 as security to bind the bargain with the provision that Petrakos was to get an extension on his lease before the sale was made. This Petrakos did not do, and as a result the sale fell through, it is alleged.

Wong now asks that the $100 paid in escrow be returned to him, together with interest from March 3.

WOMEN ARE VOTED COMPLETE RIGHTS

Change of the conservation commission from a three-man department to an office headed by a conservation warden was favored by the assembly. The lower house, 48 to 40, passed the bill of the special legislative committee calling for this change.

Favorable action now has been taken on the bill calling for alterations in the civil service commission and the conservation commission. Considerable change in the tax commission and the abolition of the state board of education.

Opponents of the bill, which is of widespread importance in calling for changes in city administration of school affairs, are provided for in the Peterson bill engrossed in the senate.

The bill, as engrossed, calls for school board members to be elected by the voters. The boards are empowered to authorize tax levies up to one and one half per cent of the assessed valuation of the city.

Power to make levies for school purposes is taken away from the common councils of cities and vested in boards of education, which would be created by the operation of the bill, should it become law.

Bill Would Make Counties Pay for Moving Patients
Madison.—Tubercular patients sent from a sanitarium to another hospital for medical attention, are to be transported and cared for at the expense of the county from which they came instead of at state expense, should the Jennings bill, considered by the assembly state senate committee Wednesday, be accepted by the lower house. The proposal has already passed the senate.

Lowering of the per capita cost of tubercular patients in state institutions would save the state $2,000,000, the state sanitarium, declared before the committee. Clothing and other necessities that patients cannot themselves provide would likewise be supplied at county expense under the provisions of this bill.

Questioned as to the number of patients that are being cured in sanitariums, Dr. Williams reported that 75 per cent of those under treatment during the first stages of the disease are cured, 40 per cent of those cured during the middle stages recover, and 2 per cent of the advanced cases survive. Sympathizers Prepare Resolution to go Before A. F. L. Convention.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Denver.—Immediate recognition of the Irish republic, withdrawal of British troops from Ireland and payment of $200,000,000 to the Irish people, is demanded in the resolution tentatively drafted by Irish sympathizers, to be submitted to the convention of the American Federation of Labor here next week.

The Irish sympathizers will ask the federation to call on President Harding to communicate a message to congress immediately urging recognition of the Irish republic and formally protesting against the alleged "barbarous warfare" being carried on by British troops in Ireland. Repayment of the British loan is asked on the ground that the British government has failed to pay its interest and was using the money to maintain soldiers to suppress Ireland and for naval expansion.

Elimination of jurisdictional and inter-union strikes was the main issue before the convention of the federation Friday.

BLAINE VETOES
CADDY MEASURE
Madison.—Governor William H. Blaine vetoed a bill permitting children between the ages of 12 and 14 to caddy at golf, on the ground that it would distract attention from school work.

Betting on Cockroach Races Latest Sport in City of Constantinople

Constantinople.—Betting on cockroach races is one of the newest sports here. It was introduced by a Russian who has just opened a hall where a man who wants some real excitement for his money can get results.

The hall is darkened. Then a single electric light at the end of a runway is turned on and the cockroaches, each on a separate track, are let loose from their cages to race to the light.

More real, old-fashioned, non-professional sports may be had here than in any other city of Europe. This is due in part to the allied troops of occupation, to American officers and sailors on station here and to the huge number of American and British civilians.

In winter there is wild boar, duck and fox hunting. There is also, in and out of season, plenty of horse racing over the dirt roads and unfenced stretches of upland country on both sides of the Bosphorus.

British and Americans have laid out golf courses. There are also a few tennis courts.

The troops and sailors within the city have taken charge of a large field near Taxim, in the center of Pera, where they play football and basketball. Swimming and water polo are commonplace sports open to all.

The Russians from the Black Sea, who are accustomed to bathe naked, have increased the popularity of the beaches. On a fine strip of sand on the Marmara north shore, known as Florida, men, women and children address on the open beach and in conventional hotels.

The Turks have contributed chicken fights to the international sports.

SULLIVAN IN CHARGE IS BEATEN AND SHOT

Daytona, Fla.—The death of Lord Richard Reynolds, more than 30 years an intimate associate of "Big Tim" Sullivan, New York politician, was momentarily expected Friday, as the result of wounds received when a mob of masked men severely beat and shot him Thursday night at Seabreeze, a fashionable beach resort in the suburbs of this city.

Reynolds was the owner of the Seabreeze house, which, with several residences, was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. Because of rumors that he was responsible, feeling against him had been high.

"Gets-It" Ends All Corns

Just as Good for Calluses. Money Back If It Fails.

Thirty seconds after you touch the corn with this liquid corn remover the itching, stinging pain of it stops. For all time.

No corn, hard or soft, is too old or too deeply rooted to resist "Gets-It." Immediately it dries and shrivels, the edges loosen from the true flesh and soon you can peel it right off with your fingers as painlessly as you trim your hair.

Don't coddle corn pests. Don't nurse and pamper them. Don't cut and trim and rub. "Gets-It" is the only cure. It costs a trifle at any drug store. Sold in Janesville and vicinity by Reliable Drug Co., McCue & Buss, and Smith Drug Co.

HINT SIMS SPEECH REPORT GARBLED

Admiral's Reply to Denby Expresses Belief of Mistake in Wording.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London.—The reply of Rear Admiral Sims to the request of Secretary of the Navy Denby for an explanation of his speech here Tuesday expresses the opinion of Admiral Sims that some parts of the speech, to which objection had been taken, had been garbled. This was learned unofficially, but on good authority here Friday.

In his answer, which is not long, Admiral Sims declares he said nothing in his address which he had not said before in speeches in the United States and in his book.

IT'S not a bit of trouble to have plenty of good things to eat on hand all the time, when you use Calumet Baking Powder. It never allows baking trouble. You don't "dread" to bake. There is nothing to worry about—and that really is the hardest part of it. Mix up a batch of biscuits—or the finest kind of cake—it's all the same. There is never but one result—the sweetest and most palatable of foods. There is not as much worry over baking costs either. Because Calumet costs less—when you buy it—the price is moderate.

LUMET ING POWDER

It costs you less when you use it—because you don't use as much of it—it has more than the ordinary leavening strength.

You get more out of the flour, sugar, eggs, shortening, etc., because there are no failures—no waste.

The most critical of baking powder judges gave it highest awards, World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago,—Paris Exposition, Paris, France.

The largest selling brand in the world.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Calumet Doughnuts
Recipe
4 cups of pastry flour, 3 level teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder, 1/2 teaspoon of salt, 1 cup of sugar, 2 eggs, beaten together, 4 tablespoons of melted butter, 1 cup of milk. Then mix in the regular way.

SUGGESTIONS.—When the rubber cork in the sampler or ammonia bottle breaks in two in the middle, and no other of proper size is at hand, put the two pieces of cork together and push through both an ordinary pin. This holds the pieces in place. Then pass a narrow strip of adhesive tape down one side of the cork, under and up at the opposite side, leaving a half inch of the tape extending above the cork at each end. Then push the two ends together. The cork is removed from the bottle by pulling on the twisted

Book on Novelists.—For a book which classes the present day novelists, "The Modern Novel," by Gordon H. Wilson is fairly complete and accurate and makes interesting reading besides being a guide to many of the contemporary authors.

Burns. Nantle has made a reputation for himself as a dramatic critic and any list of good plays compiled by him would be one of the best answers to our question. His "Best Plays of 1910-1920" contains a number of plays, not complete but enough given to convey the message of the play. This new book in this same order is "Chief Contemporary Dramatists" by Dickinson. "Enter Madame" by Varesi, one of the best plays of the season, has been received in book form.

A book which will interest golfers is Chick Evans' Golf Book, and the Jensen Golf Book, both of which are assured of a wide circulation.

Nobel Prize Volume

Among the fiction books, perhaps the one which is attracting the most attention is Knut Hamsun's "Growth of the Soil" for which Mr. Hamsun, a Scandinavian, was awarded the Nobel prize in 1920 for his novel.

any direction, and Brier's "Mystic Isles of the South Seas" is proving as popular as his first book, "White Shadows in the South Seas" which was one of the bestsellers of the decade for writing stories of the South Seas.

Clare Sheridan's diary of her trip "From Mayfair to Moscow," which has many interesting sidelights on the Russian trouble told in an interesting and instructive manner. These two books have been chosen by the "New York Times" to be found on the shelf of newly added books.

John Driftnaker, who was perhaps the leading playwright of last season, due to his death, has left behind a new historical drama which promises to be popular. It is "Mary Stuart" and is of course, an account for her tragic life. It is now being played in New York and other eastern cities.

There are a number of new books always widely read and her latest one, "Sister Sue" should be popular.

Floyd Dell's "Moon Chalice" which is the best deal of comfort for both favorable and unfavorable readers and book lovers will want to read it to form their own opinion of it. Elsie's "Drinking Cup" is another which has been talked about a great deal. "People" by Humph won a prize recently for one of the best stories of the year. It is more of a study of stories, a study of the Swiss people.

For the many lovers of mystery stories, two books recently added will be welcome. They are "The Orange" by George Orange and "Yellow Diamond" by Fletcher. Both the authors are well known as writers of good mystery yarns.

Capt. Jonah's Fortune

But he was secretly ashamed when he met Sue Ambrose near the post office door about this time. She had just said to him as he was about to speak to Perry Baker, the Paulmouth expressman, who had a cracked talking machine in his wagon to deliver, and "don't tell me that you are a fortune teller."

"I admit to know who it is in Cardhaven, is plain to own a music box like that," he said, trying to cover his confusion. "By the way, I've been dreadful tempted to buy one of them things."

"I want your advice, about the tree," Liphaleet, said Miss Sue, but he seemed as though she was talking to a wall. He had been so busy with the cracked talking machine and where it was going. "You know, Miss Sue, usually has good trees, but I don't think I'm interested in the Christmas tree this year. Susan, I'm taking a back seat, like I tell 'em all. Let somebody else have a spell at it. I don't want to be a fortune teller."

"Oh, yes! Certainly, Liphaleet, if you feel that way about it," the gentle spinster said.

The memory of this meeting rasped at his mind more and more as the hours passed. She had spoken as though she were hurt by his gruff refusal, and he cringed in secret at the thought of making her feel so. But even Miss Sue, he determined, should come into no further effort in behalf of the Christmas celebration. He knew very well what she expected—that they were looking for.

"That's all," grumbled Liphaleet. "They're playing a game, all on 'em. Just saving me over-trying to get all they can out of me. I don't want to be a fortune teller."

The Black Dog rode Liphaleet had done so for many weeks. At first when he had begun himself to notice the change that was coming over his mind, Liphaleet had called it "the moratorium." But in his heart he knew that the trouble was more mental than physical. The seed of his discontent had been sown long before the years of denial since his retirement from the sea were harder to bear than he had thought.

That last homeward voyage had been a memorable one for Liphaleet. The old wind-jammer seemed fairly to fly. And when he climbed to the seat beside Noah Coffin, the stage driver, that portion of the Cape Cod landscape within range of his vision was painted in rainbow hues.

"Great chances around Cardhaven since you was last there," Liphaleet, the gossip stage driver had been most interested in.

"Same old crop of happenings. I reckon, Noah," the cheerful mariner rejoined.

"Doc Ambrose's sister—ye know, that little doc, Susan—has fell for a feller, do you say, $40,000."

"By the way," Liphaleet ejaculated. "What's that you say, Noah?"

"Yes-it-receiv'g," declared the stage driver, "and she's a real one, they say, livin' at a distance, give all her fortune to Susan Ambrose. For-ty-thous-and-dollars."

It was then that the vision attending his home-coming had begun to fade. Liphaleet thought of it now, after ten years of dragging time had passed, and the contemplation of his own disappointment was bitter indeed.

"How could a fellow with my little tad of money," he asked himself, "have the cheek to go on the money, up and down the Cape, would say he was after her fortune. Worst of all, she might think so."

From the time he had been gradually falling into the delirium.

CHAP. V.—The Alibi

Among other new worlds, that of poetry was being revealed to Pearl Holden. Although by no means sentimental, Joe Holmford had his bookshelves well supplied with the works of many minor versifiers. When Holmford pointed out these volumes to her, she began to learn that romance lay in other directions but on the road of action.

He watched her with something other than amusement behind his big, round glasses. Here was the budding of a soul. Here new life Holmford began dimly to realize that Pearl was no ordinary girl after all. Had she been born in a different environment she would have been ahead of her time and culture as might have been within her reach.

One evening he read a few lines of Walt Whitman to her, and she, sweet as the lily with interest. Her eyes gleamed. Her figure palpitated before him.

"Isn't it wonderful? Isn't it beautiful? Signed Pearl, when he had finished."

Her hand outstretched for the book met his lightly as he released the volume. The touch thrilled them.

Dinner Stories

"North," said Mrs. Desbrest, from the top of the stairs, "that man who is ringing the doorbell that I am not receiving today?"

The servant went to the door and said something to the man; then he stepped into the hall and called upstairs:

"I told him you were not receiving today, ma'am. But he says he ain't deliverin', he's collectin'!"

At a cricket match played in the park of a well known baronet, it was found necessary to secure the services of one of the famous umpires. In due course the baronet went in. He stopped the second half with his leg, and the cry of "How's that?" was raised.

It was the footman on whom the decision rested, and, turning to his master, he said, in a half apologetic tone:

"I'm afraid I must say 'Not at home, Sir John.'"

"Not at home?" retorted the baronet, "what do you mean?"

Well, then, Sir John," replied the footman, "if you will 'ave it, I mean that you're home!"

"Would you care to make a few remarks before we spring the trap?" asked the sympathetic baronet.

"No," replied the condemned man. "I may have my faults, otherwise I wouldn't be here, but tramping all over the place always did offend my idea of the fitness of things. Besides, a number of newspaper men are present. They would certainly take down anything I said and if they got it wrong after the ceremony I wouldn't be in a position to claim that I was misquoted."

When at last all the animals were assembled around the wagon, Thomas raised his voice and read the roll after which the subjects of the talks for the night were given and the names of those who would discuss them.

"As the stories to be told tonight are quite long, we will select but five, leaving the others for a future meeting," announced Thomas.

I did not follow Fannie, my little mistress, there, but was taken away from her and put in a cage in this way. It was the last day of school for that year, and the scholars were going to have tableaux, taken from Mother Goose, and Fannie and I were to represent Mary and Her Little Lamb. There were to be others, such as 'Little Bo-Peep,' 'Little Boy Blue,' 'Miss Alice and the Lamb,' etc."

"Everything went well until we got to the school and were waiting outside for all the people to get there. This made me tired, for all the little girls wanted to rub my wool the wrong way and to call me 'Lambie!' 'Lambie!' which made me mad, for if there was anything I hated it was to be called 'Lambie.' I was very patient for a long time on Fannie's account and tried to show off what tricks I could do by turning somersaults, etc. After a while they caught me and tried to tie a wreath of roses around my neck. In doing this they ran the thorns into me, which made me angry and I bit the child that was holding me on her lap until she was glad to let me go, and then I jumped off and scampered away, with all the children following and trying to catch me. I made straight for the school house where, seeing a large hole under it, I ran into it, well knowing that

COACH SAYS HE CAN JUDGE CHARACTER OF A BOY BY HIS PLAYING

"I can judge a boy's character by the way he plays a game," said a famous college athletic coach, "and other people can do the same, and they do it."

If you enter a game with a half-hearted look on your face and don't really have to in order to win, you are not a good player. If you are not obedient, but sullen and mean, what do you suppose other people are going to think of you?

It pays to play games, and it pays to play them in the right way. Through being active your body is developed physically. Athletics being required of you in games, your mind is also in his shirt and trousers thrust himself before the girl.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XXVIII.—TEXAS

The ill-fated expedition of Narvaez was responsible for the first interest in Texas. This large expedition was wrecked at the mouth of the Mississippi in 1528. Four members, including Cabeza de Vaca, were captured by the Indians and spent eight years wandering through the country, eventually reaching the Gulf of California. It was their accounts of rich Indian villages which led the Mexican governor to send Coronado to explore this country. He returned after a two-year's trip without discovering the reputed riches which he was seeking.

To counteract the aggressions of the French settlements in Louisiana, the Spanish established many missions throughout Texas, the most important being at San Antonio. When the United States negotiated the Louisiana Purchase from France they considered that Texas was a part of this territory. Over this question war was nearly precipitated, but finally the United States withdrew their claims in exchange for Spain's withdrawal of claims to the Oregon region.

Many Americans began to settle in Texas, among them General Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin. Mexico became alarmed at the rapid increase of American pioneers which threatened to crowd out the Mexican population. Oppressive measures were adopted and caused the Americans to rise in rebellion in 1836. During this uprising occurred the gallant defense of the Alamo by a handful of Americans, and their slaughter by the vastly superior numbers of the Mexicans. "Remember the Alamo," became the Texans' slogan. General Houston decisively defeated the Mexican forces at the battle of San Jacinto and the Republic of Texas was launched with Houston as president. The flag contained one star, and from this has come the name the Lone Star state. After considerable opposition from the North, Texas was annexed to the Union and became the twenty-eighth state.

Rock County's Live Church

FOOTVILLE CHURCH OF CHRIST.

There is no church in Rock county not bothered about the lack of attendance during the summer. It is the church of Christ in Footville.

Instead of decreasing, interest is increasing. Instead of retrenching on church activities, the church is adding new features.

Recently the Footville church organized the women of the church and community and has more than 125 members in the association. They will hold group meetings four times a year and will consider community, home and church problems.

Start New Class. The vacation Bible school of the church was started Tuesday and will be conducted each Tuesday during the week.

"He who robs his children of the opportunity to learn the Bible, steals from the gold mine of truth," quoted the Rev. Mr. Smith in advising the new class.

An open air festival was held under the auspices of the church at the Ernest Eals home, the Donald Dale stock farm, June 2, attended by 500 people. J. K. Bemis made the hit with his dialect songs. John E. Mitchell, Janesville, wearing a Scotch costume, sang Highland melodies.

Teachers Graduated. Bible school students, trained by Rev. M. Smith in classes this winter, were graduated last Sunday night. (Twenty-four) received diplomas. The church was decorated in the Bible school class colors, blue and white. The class motto was "Teach the Word."

"We are furnishing our pupils and teachers with the best supplies we can buy and we mean to have the best Bible school teachers that time and energy can train," said Mr. Smith.

The Bible school students in the Footville church are being instructed by those who have been school teachers or have graduated from the church training course.

"Is Christ Coming Again?" will be the sermon subject of Rev. Mr. Smith next Sunday evening.

The above picture was taken on "Automobile Sunday," observed several weeks ago.

Hustling Is Tonic, Avers Englishman

London.—Lord Leverhulme, one of Great Britain's largest manufacturers, asserts more people shorten their lives by dawdling in England than by hustling.

He is a living proof that hustling promotes hale old age. He has always led the strenuous life and at 70 is going strong.

He presided at the annual meeting of the British Industrial Safety First association the other day. In his address he drew largely on his American experiences. Steps had been taken there, he said, to ascertain whether it was the hustling, bustling business man who was supposed to shorten his days, or the man who crawled and dawdled through life.

He declared there are men in the United States of 80, 90 and between 90 and 100, still in good health and actively engaged in business, whereas men who had retired early from business had shortened their lives thereby.

A successful affair was staged Thursday by the Parent-Teachers organization of St. Mary's parochial school in the pavement fair, given along the sidewalk between the church and the street. This was laid to provide a clean and safe playground for the children. The fair was to help finance the project.

The children of the school took part in a pleasing performance in St. Mary's hall at frequent intervals during the afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Jessie Whitmore, Mrs. Frank Croak and Mrs. P. Connors managed the show, and Mrs. Whitmore represented Mammy Chloe in a plantation scene in which Margaret Jorg, Mary, Alice Whitmore and Frances Pettit took part.

Laurel Jones and Helen Kester sang, assisted by a chorus, and Ruth Welsh and Vivian Croak spoke pieces.

A Spanish dance was put on by Helen Koster, Ruth Welsh, Katherine Welch, Vivian Croak and Katherine Connors.

AWAIT OUTCOME OF SIMS CONTROVERSY

Harding Administration Faces Perplexing Problem As Result of Statements.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Correspondent, Janesville Gazette.

Washington.—Everybody in the national capital is wondering what term of punishment, if any, will be meted out to Admiral Sims for his speech in London declaring that resolutions of congress on the Irish question should be ignored.

Admiral Sims has been rebuked by the Harding administration for his indiscreet speeches, but his representatives "didn't take." The Harding administration is being beset with individual petitions asking that the admiral be punished for his utterances. President Harding has taken notice of the affair, but prefers to await the outcome of the cabinet meeting.

But the handling of the Sims speech has been made doubly difficult for the Harding administration because it lately saw fit to ignore another indiscretion in the speech of another American official abroad—Ambassador George Harvey. The latter told the British people at a public dinner that Americans didn't enter the war for humanitarian or unselfish purposes but "to save our own skins," and he criticized the United States for not entering the war sooner than it did. This deed offended a great body of American citizens and particularly many members of the American Legion, some of whom adopted resolutions asking President Harding to recall the ambassador.

Doubtful Dilemma

So the Harding administration is confronted with the problem of muzzle its officials abroad or at least quieting their oratorical impulses. If Sims is rebuked, the movement to have Harvey reprimanded will be renewed. Unquestionably the Sims speech has stirred up more of a hornet's nest and is regarded here as a much greater indiscretion than that of Harvey, but the true inclination of folks here is to tell not only Harvey and Sims but all American officials abroad to refrain hereafter from commenting on things that are likely to rekindle the fires of partisanship and controversy at home.

Stirs Up New Issues

Everything was going nicely here with respect to the Irish question when Admiral Sims' speech came along. The administration was free from picketing. The Irish had not cornered the occupant of the White House with pleas to recognize the independence of Ireland, as was the case under the Wilson administration. No resolutions had been introduced in the senate disapproving the "actories" in Ireland. In short, everything was peaceful, and the Harding administration was having a good time continuing that way when, of a sudden, Admiral Sims revives the entire controversy and brings the Irish question to the doors of the White House again.

Silence Only Temporary

Secretary Denby will be guided by the president in the action he takes, and the Irish on this side of the Atlantic will not be satisfied until Sims is formally and solemnly reprimanded. Senator Aldrich, McClellan and others in congress have made it plain that they do not intend to let the matter drop. Admiral Sims has a splendid war record but hasn't learned that discretion is the better part of valor, and judging by the boldness with which he has disregarded previous demands, the chances are he will remain silent only for another year or so until he is on the retired list, when some more observations on the Irish question probably will be forthcoming. The administration can hold him in line for another year only. Beyond that he will be free to go to England again or anywhere else and say what he pleases.

COLONIZATION IS COMING TYPE OF LAND SETTLEMENT

Madison.—Colonization is the coming type of land settlement in upper Wisconsin, according to observations made by G. M. Householder of the state immigration department in a trip over the northern part of the state.

In the old days it used to be necessary for three generations to work a single farm before it would become cleared and productive. Householder said, "These new selling methods are making it much easier for the settler of small means to clear his holdings."

"The colonization scheme is based upon service. The reliable companies sell their land on long time contracts, and help the settlers over the rough spots. Some of them even build small houses and barns on credit."

Mr. Householder also found that the crops in northern Wisconsin are as far advanced right now as those DISTINCTIVE CAPS FOR EACH CLASS, IS SUGGESTION AT U. W.

Madison.—All classes of the University of Wisconsin, freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors, will wear distinctive caps or hats if the suggestion of the student senate is accepted at a referendum election to be held soon after the opening of school next fall.

A better class and university spirit will result if each class wears distinctive head gear, the student governing body expressed. In its suggestion to the students, the recent abolition of cap night, the green cap and the class rush, because of the freshman-sophomore clash last Saturday night, has brought student attention to the creation of new traditions built on more wholesome rivalry.

No effort would be made to make the wearing of class caps compulsory, as was attempted with the freshman cap, but would be left to

Wisconsin Will Be "Home-Brew" State Under Law

Rock county police authorities are not in the least enthusiastic over the provisions of the "dry measure" offered as a substitute for the Madison bill by Governor J. J. Blaine. They hold that the governor's measure would give no real protection to the state against the "home-brew" state.

"Home brew for home consumption is all wrong," said Chief of Police Thomas Morrissey. "Under the Blaine bill the authorities must prove sale before they can search a home or any place dealing in illegal intoxicants. This bill does not give police the right to search a home, half of Rock and a number in Janesville will go into the distillery business the day after it becomes a law," said the police chief. "The state then protects them. We'll have moonshine and white-flashing, and destructive booze in a flood. The home distilled and brewed booze is a hundred times worse than the worst of bonded liquor—and it is all bad enough."

"Sale is the hardest thing to prove in court. You may know that a man is making moonshine and is selling it—but it is another proposition to catch him and prove it to the satisfaction of the court," continued Chief Morrissey.

Superior.—Two million tons of coal have been recovered from Superior and Duluth since the opening of navigation. This is about four times as much as in the same period last year.

Milton College Stages Shakespearean Play

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Milton—One of the principal features of commencement week at Milton college will be the seventeenth annual Shakespearean play. The Merchant of Venice, to be presented by a class of nearly 20 students in the gymnasium auditorium Tuesday night.

Joe E. Johnson, Stone Fort, Ill., as Shylock, the revengeful Jew, has the most difficult part in the drama. The leading feminine role of Portia is taken by Miss Laura Kuntzen, Milton, who starred last year as Katherine in "The Taming of the Shrew."

Other members of the cast are as follows: Cassiano, L. E. Langhorne; Gratiano, F. P. Merrill; Antonio, A. L. Pierce; Salerio, H. P. Katusko; Solanio, C. A. Baker; Jessica, Goldie Davis; Noriana, Lois I. Atkinson; Tubal, A. M. Miller; Lorenzo, D. W. Thompson; Stephano, W. H. Mueller; Duke of Venice, L. I. Maxson; Prince of Morocco, N. D. Mills; Launcelot Gobbo, M. D. Davis; old Gobbo, C. D. Newman.

Joe E. Johnson, who has directed many successful Shakespearean plays at Milton in past years, is coaching the student actors against this season. He is being assisted by Miss Zea Zian, an instructor in the English department.

CITIZENS IN MOVE

TO SAVE GIANT ELM

Lawrence, Minn.—Citizens here have raised a large fund to save a giant elm from the wood choppers' ax. Legend says that more than a century and a half ago a young soldier returning from the French and Indian wars stopped for the night at the Bodwell homestead in this city. He was without money but in the morning he sought to do something in return for the kindness shown him. Mrs. Bodwell suggested that more shade was needed at the southwest corner of the house, and so the soldier went into the woods, brought back an elm sapling, planted it, and went his way. The old farmer, sheltered through the years by the elm grown to splendid proportions, recently changed hands and word went out that the tree was to be cut down. A movement to save the ancient landmark was started, the owner agreeing to sell the entire property without profit. School children have had a large part in raising the required $10,000. It is proposed to use the house as the headquarters of historical society but the purchase of the building is only incidental to the saving of the famous elm.

YOUTHS DEMAND STYLE, EVEN IN THEIR HAIR-CUTS

"Next," shouts the barber in the end chair. Then this same barber begins to wonder of the desires and peculiarities of the youth with his sleek hair, downy chin and wisps of a mustache who takes the chair.

Hairstyling is no longer a trade, rather, it is an art. There has been a change in men.

Where once man was content to have his hair sheared off at a time when it began to flow over his ears and crawl down his neck, he now insists on having it cut "so and so and thus and thus." Generally the barber listens and cuts it as he thinks it ought to be cut. There is reason to believe, he says, that a barber knows more about hairstyling than a plumber, collar clerk or railroad engineer.

Now a days the young bloods attempt to imitate the movie Beau Brummels. They want freak haircuts, ab. "something rather distinctive" and different from the common mob. Some want their hair sheared so light it looks like a wig. Others want the back clipped tight and a mass of hair on the top of the skull. Some abhor the clippers and want side-burns like an English butler. Others want it trimmed as if by a razor with a neat part in the middle and then an overdose of sparkling liquids and scented mixtures similar to those with which the French barber attempted to enervate the A. E. F. doughboy when having his semi-annual shearing.

Some time ago the pompadour came into style. This was varied by the close clipped and stiff pompadour along with the sleeker type with the top of hair greased and pressed back over the head. They even marveled it for a wave. Then haircuts changed in style to the parting on the side and now there is a trend to establish the part in the middle.

All and in all the Jamesville barber is off with the coiffes, haircuts—like automobiles and trousers—are regulated by changeable styles.

SOUTH STARTS MOVE FOR REMOVAL OF ASSASSIN'S STATUE

Birmingham, Ala.—A movement looking to the removal of a statue erected at Troy, Ala., just after the Civil war to John Wilkes Booth, slayer of Abraham Lincoln, has been launched by Mrs. Cal D. Brooks, president of the Woman's League of Republican Voters of Alabama. Mrs. Brooks declares that protests against the statue have come to the league from many sections of the country and she believes the time has come when such acts as placing the shaft "will be frowned upon by all good citizens of the south regardless of party affiliation."

An injury has been done the south as a whole, she says, and a wrong impression created north, east and west, in order that there may be "one harmonious union of interest, north, east, west, south," Mrs. Brooks has called upon all political faiths of the south to join the league in plans to remove the Booth shaft.

The statue was erected by funds gathered by semi-public subscription at a time when partisanship was keen and when Booth was looked upon by some as a benefactor and hero. The league claims that this was not the sentiment of the south at that time and that the surviving few who had a hand in the erection of the shaft will not object to its removal.

Attention! Farmers, Merchants, Laboring Men and Pro- fessional Men

For the past three months we have had many inquiries as to when people could buy good clothing at the right prices.

Farmers have repeatedly told us that any clothing, dry goods or shoes they have to buy are about three times higher in proportion than what they are receiving for their milk, stock, grains and other farm produce. This statement is absolutely correct.

Expressly to help reduce this high price condition we have arranged for a special sale of Hart Schaffner & Marx High Grade Suits, commencing Saturday Morning at 8 O'clock

Copyright 1921 Hart Schaffner & Marx

200 Hart, Schaffner & Marx Suits, $42.50 Each.

All Styles and Sizes, Blue Serge Included.

These Suits formerly sold at $50, $55, $60, $65 and $70.

This sale will last only as long as the Suits remain. We therefore advise early selection.

Remember, every Suit is guaranteed pure-wool or pure worsted. Suits guaranteed or your money back. Good Clothes are scarce. Cheap ones you can buy by the carload at your own price. Buy good clothes or nothing. Hart, Schaffner & Marx are the best.
